

THE CARBONDALE MIRROR

copyright 1981 by Dale Boncare, Inc.

Cable TV firm gives city bid for building

A lone bid of $15,000 was submitted Monday night to Carbondale City Council for the purchase of the M&M Bank Building, N. Main St.

The bid was submitted by David A. Adams Cable Television of Duane Department. Council chose to award the building to Adams, pending a review of an accompanying contract by city solicitor Arty. John Cerra.

It was noted during the special meeting that the fair market value of the building is $28,000.

Several years ago, the city's Community Development Department purchased the building for some $60,000 with the intention to tear it down for a parking lot.

However, those plans were bypassed and

MICU paramedics say obstetrics is fulfilling

By NAN WATERS

"The really fulfilling work we do," comments Ron Terzano, paramedic on Mobile 2, "is the obstetrical calls."

Coincidentally, as we sat in the garage where Mobile 2 is housed, the Lackawanna County Communications Center radio crackled into life in the dashboard of the vehicle.

Mobile 2 part two

Mobile 1, based at Community Medical Center, was dispatched to attend a lower-valley woman who was eight months pregnant and in labor. The room became silent as we monitored the drama between Comm Center and Mobile 1.

"We have a birth," the female Comm Center dispatcher announced at one point. It was a girl, and the infant was breathing, but not well. Mobile 1 was in contact with CMC and its physicians, and asking for instructions because the baby was not doing well. A pediatrician was requested and the baby was transported to the neo-natal (new-born) unit at CMC.

Later Terzano called a colleague at the Mobile 1 base at CMC to check on the infant's condition. All was well. Another life-threatening crisis had taken place and been averted.

Terzano's most dramatic moment in the almost five years he spent on Mobile 17 Again ... the birth of twins. The first arrived nor-

Allied appeals home decision; Nicholls: 'it wasn't unexpected'

"It wasn't unexpected. I don't know where they're going with it," Jernyn Attorney Albert E. Nicholls, Jr. told the Carbondale Mirror this week with reference to a petition filed last week in county court by Allied Services for the Handicapped Inc. of Scranton.

Allied is asking the courts to reverse the decision of the three-man Zoning Board of Adjustment of Jernyn which upheld an appeal by Nicholls and his wife, Catherine, and revoked Allied's zoning and special use permits for a building at 438 Washington Ave. in Jernyn.

Transitory living site

Last spring Allied parlayed the structure, the former Jernyn Community House, for use as a transitory living site for

City budget returned

About two dozen people Monday night attended a public hearing on the proposed 1982 city budget, presented by Mayor Fred J. Mancuso.

Following the reading of the 10-page budget by city clerk Mary Mulligan, the opportunity to comment on the budget was thrown open to the public.

There was none and the meeting adjourned.

The public's consideration of the budget was dampened somewhat when Council President James V. McMyne told his fellow citizens and the public that the budget was in error and asked that it be resubmitted to the mayor for correction.

He explained that the property tax income was incorrectly calculated and that it the city several times tried to sell the building.

Several bids had been rejected in the past because they were for lower amounts than what the city, through the Community Development Department, paid for it with Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) monies.

One bid, higher than the $60,000 figure, was received a couple of years ago, but the bidder later changed his mind about buying the North Main Street property.

Adams, who was present at Monday night's session, told the city's solicitor that he plans to make a studio and office space for his company and others in the building.

His plans also include the installation of an elevator to make "better use of the second floor."

The Dundaff resident also intends to restore the exterior of the building to its former condition.

Asked if the firm planned to use the building for warehousing, Adams replied, "definitely not."

Adams, when asked how much he would be spending to repair the building, replied it would be easy to "use $200,000" in the building.

With the consent of all members of council present, council, at the motion of Councilman Michael Tolencio, instructed city managing director Martin P. Judge to dock the city's garbage collection accordingly for missed collections last week.

director of St. Joseph's.

After a committee was formed, and numerous organizations and individuals contributed toward its cost, the 1981 Chevrolet Scottsdale Suburban vehicle, completely equipped with emergency and radio equipment, was presented to St. Joseph's Hospital, which houses and maintains it.

Personnel from Mobile 1 rotate and staff Mobile 2 twenty-four hours a day. Paramedics and emergency medical technicians are from all areas of the county.

Mobile 2 covers an area in the Carbondale area including Archbald, Juntura, Jernyn, Clifton, Lenex, Union Dale, Elk Mountain, Pleasant Mount, Forest City, Waymart, South Canaan, Hamlin, Lake Ariel ... in any area that "we feed" by the Carbondale hospitals.

They are called by local ambulances where a life-threatening event is taking place ... or by residents who dial 911 on their own.

RESIDENTS ARE URGED TO DIAL 911 TO REACH MOBILE 2. NO COINS ARE NEEDED FROM A PAY STATION TELEPHONE.

The cost of using the new mobile unit is $75 plus cost of medications administered, and according to Emergency Room personnel at St. Joseph's, this is usually covered by hospital insurance. It is added to the Emergency Room cost and billed through the hospital.

(Editor's note: next week, part 3 ... How to Reach When to Call Mobile 2 ... what to do and what not to do in a life-threatening situation.)

Mobile 2, which went into service just over a week ago, was the long-awaited brainchild of Terzano and Dan O'Rourke, who sat down one morning over a cup of coffee to discuss the possibility of a life support vehicle for the upper valley as an adjunct to Mobile 1 based at CMC.

They contacted Mayor Fred J. Mancuso and Sister M. Cephas Ryan, IHM, executive up to 10 adult individuals under a program provided by Allied."

Nicholls, a former member of the zoning board, appealed issuance of the permits on the grounds no public hearing of the board had been held.

Following a hearing before the Zoning Board on Oct. 21, the board, chaired by Richard J. Mariani, upheld the Nicholls appeal. Attorney and Mrs. Nicholls are represented by his own law firm, Hughes, Nicholls and Moran of Scranton.

Ordered to vacate

The three-man board ordered Allied to vacate the building within 30 days after its decision Nov. 9. Following that decision, Attorney Kenneth A. Rhodes, Jr., of the Scranton legal firm of Oliver, Price and was, therefore, pointless to comment on the budget until the corrections were made.

City finance director Joseph Masco told the Carbondale Mirror following the meeting that the mistake was only one of about $10,000.

The proposed 1982 budget foresees an income of nearly $1 million excluding revenue sharing and liquid fuels tax monies

Vol. 1
Wednesday
Dec. 9, 1981
25¢

City hall
A lot of noise will be made Dec. 17 for the repair of city hall.
Page 10

Santa
The jolly man from the North Pole has made his return to the Carbondale area.
Page 9

THE FIRST LADY of the City of Carbondale, Mrs. Fran Mancuso, stands behind some of the youngsters who attended tree trimming party given Saturday afternoon by Mayor and Mrs. Fred J. Mancuso. (MIRROR photo by Ros-AI)

On Pearl Harbor anniversary

Council president McMyne is still angry with Japan

By BETH WALLEN

A few days previous to the 40th Anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack the Carbondale Mirror had an interview with James V. McMyne, who was stationed at Pearl Harbor at the time of the attack. Mr. McMyne is the president of City Council and a retired cigar company executive.

Pearl Harbor is an inlet in the Hawaiian Islands on the southeast of Oahu Island. In 1908, the United States set up an important naval base there.

On December 7, 1941, the two-hour attack by the Japanese killed approximately 2,400 persons and injured nearly 1,200. It took the United States Navy almost one year to recover from the shattering and unexpected invasion.

Between history books and encyclopedias you will find many, different versions of what really happened that day. Here is one version from a courageous Carbondale native who was stationed at Pearl Harbor on Dec.

Polly says drugs are for sick people

Polly says "Drugs are for sick people only."

That's the name of the latest booklet for young people which the Carbondale Police Department has obtained.

Other booklets previously distributed to young people are Bevy and Bill and the Yes Bad Men and Officer Paul Says.

The first booklet teaches youngsters about the dangers of accepting candy and rides from strangers.

The second teaches the responsibility of obeying laws and reporting wrong-doing to the police.

Last Wednesday evening Robert M. Ford who was elected to the Carbondale Area School Board in November, was unanimously elected president of that group. A Republican, Ford defeated former Democratic City Chairman and incumbent director Jack Kearney to represent Region III.

A feature of this booklet is a two-page parents and teachers' guide.

The guide explains the purpose of each game and quiz so that the parent or teacher can better emphasize the lessons of drugs.

It warns that drugs should be taken only when sick and when the doctor says so, that drugs that belong to someone else should not be taken, that people on television and radio who advertise drugs mean for only sick people to take them.

The booklet also stresses that there are certain things that drugs or medicine can not cure ... like life's disappointments and problems.

Sgt. Russell Scavo of the city police department juvenile office told the Carbondale Mirror that he and a state police officer will distribute the booklets to first and second grade students of the Felt, Roosevelt, Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, and St. Rose elementary schools following the Holidays.

The booklets were paid for through advertisements bought by local businesses and industries.

The police officers will also distribute growth charts (to keep track of a child's growth) to the students.

School boards reorganize

Last Wednesday evening Robert M. Ford who was elected to the Carbondale Area School Board in November, was unanimously elected president of that group. A Republican, Ford defeated former Democratic City Chairman and incumbent director Jack Kearney to represent Region III.

A feature of this booklet is a two-page parents and teachers' guide.

The guide explains the purpose of each game and quiz so that the parent or teacher can better emphasize the lessons of drugs.

It warns that drugs should be taken only when sick and when the doctor says so, that drugs that belong to someone else should not be taken, that people on television and radio who advertise drugs mean for only sick people to take them.

The booklet also stresses that there are certain things that drugs or medicine can not cure ... like life's disappointments and problems.

Sgt. Russell Scavo of the city police department juvenile office told the Carbondale Mirror that he and a state police officer will distribute the booklets to first and second grade students of the Felt, Roosevelt, Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, and St. Rose elementary schools following the Holidays.

The booklets were paid for through advertisements bought by local businesses and industries.

The police officers will also distribute growth charts (to keep track of a child's growth) to the students.

School boards reorganize

Last Wednesday evening Robert M. Ford who was elected to the Carbondale Area School Board in November, was unanimously elected president of that group. A Republican, Ford defeated former Democratic City Chairman and incumbent director Jack Kearney to represent Region III.

A feature of this booklet is a two-page parents and teachers' guide.

The guide explains the purpose of each game and quiz so that the parent or teacher can better emphasize the lessons of drugs.